RESEARCH SUPPORT

Pending Research Support

VA HSR&D, I01HX002518 Lovejoy (PI) 10/2017 – 09/2021
Chronic Pain Management and Patient-Centered Outcomes Following Discontinuation of Long-Term Opioid Therapy.

The objective of this study is to characterize patient experiences with the opioid discontinuation process and examine acute, intermediate, and long-term changes in quality of life following discontinuation of long-term opioid therapy.

NIH/NIDA Choo (PI) 11/2017 – 10/2022

Validation of the PROMIS Abuse of Prescription Pain Medication Item Bank

The goal of this study is to test the psychometric properties of the PROMIS Abuse of Prescription Pain Medication item bank and determine its utility for use in primary care and emergency department clinical care settings.

Role: Site Principal Investigator

Ongoing Research Support

OHSU SPH Pilot Award Sun/Lovejoy (MPI) 07/2017 – 08/2018

Development of a patient-centered decision support tool to address opioid and cannabis use among HIV-infected patients

The goal of this qualitative study is to ascertain HIV patient and clinician perspectives about conversations had during medical encounters concerning management of pain with cannabis and opioids. Qualitative data will inform the development and beta testing of a patient-centered clinician decision support tool to better facilitate these patient-clinician conversations.

VA CIVIC Pilot Award Lovejoy (PI) 07/2016 – 09/2017

Changes in pain intensity following discontinuation of long-term opioid therapy

The goal of this observational study is to examine longitudinal pain score trajectories following discontinuation of long-term opioid therapy in a national cohort of VA patients and identify predictors of trajectory category membership.

NIH/NIA, R01AG053081 Lovejoy (PI) 03/2016-02/2020

Reducing HIV risk behavior in depressed and non-depressed older adults with HIV

The goal of this randomized clinical trial is to test the efficacy of a telephone-administered motivational intervention to reduce sexual risk behavior in HIV-positive older adults across the depressive symptom severity spectrum.

VA HSR&D, 1IK2HX001516 Lovejoy (PI) 11/2014-10/2019

Chronic pain management in veterans with co-occurring substance use disorders

The goal of this VA HSR&D career development award is to characterize pain treatment utilization in veterans with co-occurring substance use disorders and develop and test the preliminary effectiveness of a collaborative pain intervention for veterans with chronic pain receiving specialty treatment for alcohol and drug use disorders.

VA HSR&D, 1I01HX001583 Morasco (PI) 10/2015 – 09/2019

A patient-centered intervention to improve opioid safety

The goal of this VA HSR&D IIR is to evaluate the efficacy of a primary care-based collaborative care intervention designed to reduce prescription opioid abuse and medication-related adverse effects.

Role: Consultant

Completed Research Support

VA SUD QUERI, QLP 59-048 Lovejoy (PI) 10/2014-09/2015
Guideline-concordant opioid discontinuation in Veterans with and without SUDs
 The goal of this study was to conduct a retrospective medical chart review to evaluate clinical care for veterans with and without substance use disorders who are prescribed chronic opioid therapy and subsequently discontinue opioid therapy.

VA SUD QUERI, QLP 59-046 Frank (PI) 10/2014-09/2015
Systematic Review of Patient Outcomes in Dose Reduction or Discontinuation of Chronic Opioid Therapy
 The goal of this study was to conduct a systematic review of the empirical literature on dose reduction and discontinuation of chronic opioid therapy and to outline a research agenda.
 Role: Co-Investigator

NIH/NIMH, R01MH087462 Heckman (PI) 12/2009-11/2014
Telephone IPT intervention for HIV-infected rural persons
 The goal of this study was to compare the efficacy of telephone-delivered Interpersonal Therapy to a usual care control in reducing depressive symptomatology in HIV-infected rural adults.
 Role: Consultant

NIH/NIMH, R01MH078749 Heckman (PI) 08/2006-07/2011
Effectiveness of a telephone-delivered behavioral treatment to improve the quality of life of older adults with HIV
 The goal of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of two telephone-delivered group mental health interventions to reduce depressive symptomatology and improve coping skills in HIV-infected older adults.
 Role: Consultant

CENTRI Pilot Award Lovejoy (PI) 06/2009-12/2010
Reducing sexual risk behavior in HIV-positive late middle-age and older adults
 The goal of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of two telephone-delivered Motivational Interviewing interventions to reduce sexual risk behavior in HIV-infected adults 45+ years of age.

SEA Pilot Award Lovejoy (PI) 11/2009-06/2010
Reducing sexual risk behavior in HIV-positive late middle-age and older adults
 The goal of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of two telephone-delivered Motivational Interviewing interventions to reduce sexual risk behavior in HIV-infected adults 45+ years of age.

American Cancer Society Lovejoy (PI) 01/2007-12/2008
An investigation of barriers and facilitators to cancer screening in Appalachian Ohio adults.
The goal of this mixed method study was to identify structural and psychological barriers and facilitators to cervical, breast, colorectal, and prostate cancer screening in a community sample of Southeast Ohioans.

NIH/NIMH, R01MH067566 Heckman (PI) 04/2004-03/2007
A coping intervention for HIV-infected older adults
The goal of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of two face-to-face group mental health interventions to reduce depressive symptomatology and improve coping skills in HIV-infected older adults.
Role: Consultant
